The News in Brief.

The account of a series of diabolical outrages, perpetrated by a gang of Baltimore out-throats, upon a party of unoffending people, who were going to a camp-meeting on a steamboat; the murder of HUGH SULLIVAN; a riot at Philadelphia; the death of Hon. JOHN A. DAVIS, of Indiana; and a destructive fire at Cario; comprise the budget of crimes and casualities in our telegraphic columns this morning.

A despatch from Leavenworth speaks of new and rich gold discoveries in the Pike's Peak region, 150 miles north-west of Cherry Creek.

The "Opposition" in Virginia, urge the nomination of JOHN M. BOTTS for the Presidency.

The rain which everybody has been so earnestly looking for, is very sparing of itself. A few dark clouds, and a slight chill in the atmosphere, was the nearest approach we had to it yesterday.

The Proposed New State of Jefferson.

The Rocky Mountain News of Aug. 6th brings us the proceedings of the Constitutional Convention, lately in session at Denver City. The Convention met on the 1st inst., and elected A. F. GARRISON, of Golden City, President, A. M. WOOD, of Russell's Gulch, Vice President; and THOMAS GIBSON, Secretary. The usual Committees were appointed, and the Committee on Credentials reported 167 delegates duly elected and present. A brisk controversy sprung up on the second day as to the policy of organizing the country—whether as a Territory or a State. A committee of thirteen was appointed to consider the question, which committee brought in a majority and a minority report. The majority resolved "that a State form of Government is the best for this country at this time." The minority presented a lengthy report favoring a memorial to Congress, asking a Territorial organization and Government. The Convention resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, and re-resolved itself back again several times on the question—two days being occupied in the debate.—The State policy finally triumphed by a vote of 58 to 43, whereupon the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Convention now proceed to prepare a Constitution for the State of Jefferson. And also that the Convention appoint a committee of thirteen whose duty it shall be to propose a memorial to Congress, asking the immediate organization of a Territorial Government for the Territory of Jefferson. And that said Constitution and Memorial both be submitted to the voters within the limits of said State or Territory on the first Monday of September next, for their approval or rejection.

On Thursday afternoon, August 4th, Committees were appointed on Schedule, Bill of Rights, Suffrage, Legislative and Executive Departments, Judiciary, Militia, State Debt, Corporations, Education, Amendments, Schedule, Memorial, and Apportionment. The Committees went to grinding immediately, and before Saturday night, the 6th, the whole business was completed. The form adopted for voting on the Constitution was as follows: Those in favor of a State Constitution shall vote the word "For" on a ballot containing the word "Constitution;" and those in favor of a Territorial organization shall vote the word "For," on a ballot containing the word "Territory." It is understood that the ballots containing the words "For Constitution," shall be considered a full and complete negative to a State Constitution.

On Saturday the Convention adjourned sine die. The News does not give any of the features of the Constitution, but says it is in the hands of the enrolling and engrossing clerks, and that copies will soon be forwarded to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Secretaries of each of the States. A committee was appointed to prepare a memorial to Congress praying them to establish an Assay office in the State or Territory of Jefferson.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A RICH MAN.—Thirty years ago, says a New York correspondent of the Charleston Courier, "a man in New York was extremely rich when he was worth $200,000, and very few in New York were worth that. There was old NAT PRIME, of the firm of PRIME, WARD & KING; JOHN G. FOSTER, ROBERT LENNOX, STEPHEN WHITNEY, men worth a quarter of a million. Old JOHN JACOB ASTOR was worth three or four millions. The richest men were connected with commerce. There were five or six leading commercial firms, such as G. G. & S. HOWLAND, GOODHUE & Co., GRINNELL, MINTURN & Co., and STOFFORD & TILLSTON. Now there are as many hundreds of leading firms, and a man only worth $250,000 is considered a man in 'moderate,' not to say 'indigent' circumstances.

WM. B. ASTOR is worth about thirty-five millions; GEO. LAW is worth ten millions; so is STEPHEN WHITNEY. Commodore VANDERBILT will not cut up less than eight millions. Dozens of people are worth five millions, and mere 'millionaires' are quite common, and to furnish the Courier with a list of this poor class would use up several columns. Our old merchants who became very rich never made it in trade. When they had done a good year's business they drew $3,000 or $4,000 and bought real estate. I passed a lot yesterday that the present owner once paid $8,000 for, and has refused $200,000 for it a dozen times. The profits of the merchants, small or large, invested from year to year, years ago, have made them vastly wealthy, without their exactly comprehending how it was done.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A man named J. Camp, from Dunkirk, N. Y., died very suddenly coming up on the Milwaukee yesterday morning. His corpse was taken off at our city, and after inquest was interred in the Cemetary last evening. He is reported to have been a soap chandler, and was designing to establish business in La Crosse. He appears fifty years of age, and is supposed to have died of some heart disease.—La Crosse Democrat, 23d.

"The Impending Crisis of the South."—Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

There was a time within the recollection of some yet living, when the City of Charleston in South Carolina, imported foreign fabrics for the Philadelphia trade. That time has gone by, never to return whilst Pennsylvania remains a Free State, and South Carolina continues under the curse of Slavery—Charleston has a spacious harbor, a central position, and a mild climate, but with the incubus of Slavery weighing upon her and crushing her down, these advantages availed nothing against the vigorous competition of a free people. She could not overcome the immutable decree of the Almighty, that Slavery is a curse which brings desolation and ruin in its train.

Mr. Benton, in this "Thirty Year's View," says, that in 1760 the imports of Charleston were $2,662,000. In 1853 they had dwindled down to $1,759,090—a decrease of $912,000 in ninety-five years, a slow but ominous and highly significant diminution.

The census of 1850 shows the cash value of all the farms, farming implements and machinery, in Pennsylvania, to be worth $442,599,640; whilst in South Carolina the same articles were worth only $86,518,038: a difference of $356,080,602 in favor of Pennsylvania. In other words, these items in Pennsylvania were worth five times as much as the same were worth in South Carolina.

By the same census the value of all the real and personal estate of Pennsylvania amounted to $729,144,998. In South Carolina, including 384,925 Slaves, to $283,257,-094;—a difference of $446,887,304 in favor of Pennsylvania. In other words, the Free State of Pennsylvania is worth nearly three times as much as the Slave State of South Carolina. The number of free inhabitants in the City of Philadelphia is 408,762; in South Carolina 283,544—showing that the City of Philadelphia, alone, contains 125,218 more free inhabitants that the whole State of South Carolina. We might extend our abstracts to books, schools, and public journals, in all of which the comparison is equally flattering to the Free, and equally disparaging and degrading to the Slave State. But enough has already been presented to furnish abundant materials for sober reflection. Strange as it may seem, in view of the facts shown by the glaring statistics we have presented to our readers, Southern Slaveholders are moving heaven and earth to extend the curse so fatal to their prosperity. In pursuing such a course, they imitate the example of those wicked spirits, who being unable to elevate themselves to the abodes of the blessed, exerted all their malignant ingenuity and skill to bring down the dwellers above to the infernal regions which they inhabited, resolved that if they could not be happy, they would do everything in their power to make others as wretched and miserable as themselves.

And stranger still is the fact that Northern men who have from their first entrance into life breathed the pure and wholesome air of Freedom; who have witnessed its invigorating effects upon the prosperity of individuals and of States, should for the paltry loaves and fishes of office, combine with the Slavery propagandists of the South to extend this desolating evil!

The punishment of the South is upon her for her violation of God's immutable laws. It is visible on every side in her decrepitude and decay. Can the North persist in the sin of aiding to extend this iniquity and escape the righteous retribution of Heaven?—Albany Journal.

Trial Trip of the Milwaukee.

The new steamship Milwaukee made her experimental trip at Buffalo on Saturday. Like that of her consort, the Detroit, it was a complete success. The Courier says:

In addition to a large number of our citizens, Mrs. C. C. Bryges, President, and Mr. Reynolds, Vice-President of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway Company, Mr. Beecher, Director of the Great Western Railway, and Mr. H. H. Emmons, of Detroit, were on board. The machinery of the steamer worked very satisfactorily. On her return, she made the distance from Point Abino to the Light House—twelve miles—in thirty-eight minutes. The quickest time ever made by the Queen of the West, considered the fastest steamer on the Lakes, was thirty-five minutes. The "Milwaukee" carried 35 pounds of steam and her wheels made seventeen revolutions a minute.

WEDDING IN JAIL.—A wedding extraordinary was celebrated in our county jail yesterday. An old gray headed darkey had been incarcerated at the instance of a young woman, also of ebony hue, who swore that he was the immediate paternal ancestor of her "pickaninny." The old man got tired of the crowded condition and poor accommodations of the jail, and "sighed for freedom." He therefore consented to matrimony, as the lesser evil of the two, and Justice Purdy was accordingly sent for. The event created great excitement at the jail, and the Sheriff, to give eclat to the occasion, consented to the erection of the "hymenial altar" in the hall, into which the female prisoners to the number of about fifty were turned. They decked off the bride with evergreens, and mirth and hilarity rulsed the scene. The bridegroom who is so severely afflicted with rheumatism that it is very difficult to maintain a standing position, sat in a chair during the ceremony, the bride standing up. After the twain were made one the bridegroom requested the bride to procure a carriage, as he was unable to walk. This proposition occasioned a "family jar" at the onset.

"Putty idea dat! get you a carriage. Guess you's got to take care of me, instead of my taking care of you."

How this point was settled, we did not learn. The bridegroom is possessed of some property, and possibly the happy pair will be able to "keep a carriage."—Detroit Tribune, Aug. 22d.

THE CINCINNATI FOLKS seem to be getting in trouble with their water also, as the following, from the Cincinnatti Commercial, would indicate:

It was generally remarked yesterday, that the water from hydrants smelled and tasted as if it had been filtered through rotten wood. The peculiar taste seems to be similar to that observed in New York. What can have operated to produce this effect is a mystery. whether the recent showers and the hot weather have caused great quantities of vegetable matter to be deposited in the river, and to undergo fermentation there, or whether the reservoir is in need of a thorough cleansing or whether there is something in the atmosphere that at once makes the waters of the Croton and Ohio rivers distasteful, or whether some volcanic or other disturbing agency is at work polluting the springs in the depths of the earth, we can for the present only conjecture.

TERRIBLE HAIL STORM IN NEBRASKA.—We learn that about 2 o'clock P. M. of Thursday last, 11th inst., a few scattering hailstones, some of which were larger than hens eggs, began to fall in the southeastern part of Omaha, Nebraska, and continued to pelt things animate and inanimate with unwanton severity, for about fifteen minutes, literally covering the ground with a sheet of white, when a heavy rain interceded, and thus spared the country from the farther ravages of winter.

The storm came from the north-west breaking window glasses, and nearly annihilating everything it touched. The storm was unaccompanied by wind, or the destruction would doubtless have been much greater. The Nebraskian says that a few corn fields just south of the city were badly injured.—St. Joseph Journal.

PUFFER DISCHARGED.—The Puffer who has gained a somewhat unenviable notoriety for his connection with the woman who committed suicide last week on the West Side, was yesterday afternoon examined on the charge of adultery, but discharged, as sufficient evidence could not be obtained for his conviction. He brought witnesses from Racine who swore him to a position but a little lower than the angels, as a perfect pattern of morality, society, chastity, and all similar virtues, and he left the Court room with a better character, by fifty per cent., than he could have shown had he never been caught in this scrape.—Chicago Dem., 23rd.

THE EVENING POST says that "the announcement that Charles Dickens intends to visit this country in the Fall for the collection of a new batch of 'American notes,' is more than a mere rumor. The distinguished author is under engagements to give sixty 'Readings,' according to a pre-arranged programme, at various points, for the reasonable renumeration of $25,000 cash at the start, and one-fourth of the net profits of the exhibition."

MCHENRY, alias Townsend, visited Vienna, C. W., on Wednesday, for the purpose of of delivering a lecture, but he could obtain no place in which to hold forth. The feeling against the man in that section of the country is so strong that he barely escaped mobbing.

The Kentucky Opposition.

From the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.

Our friend, the Louisville Journal, is angry with us for saying that the Opposition in Kentucky owe their defeat to an "ultra pro-slavery policy" adopted by their leaders in conducting the canvass. It styles this a "most gross and intolerable slander," and indulges in other speech quite as unmannerly. But the ill-temper naturally comes from the disappointment, and is not worth minding. The fact, however, that the extreme ground we spoke of was taken, is undeniable and of no small consequence. The Journal itself, in spite of its spleen, admits it. It says:

"In opposing the Douglas doctrine of squatter sovereignty, we simply insist that Southern men shall be permitted to exercise in the United States Territories the rights of property adjudicated to them by the United States Judiciary. We do not go for the intervention of any power not necessary to the attainment of the object. If the purpose can be accomplished without the intervention of Congress, we don't want Congress to intervene; but if it can't be accomplished without such intervention, then we want and demand the intervention."

This is precisly what we stated was the doctrine of the Kentucky Opposition. It is nothing more or less than the South Carolina doctrine in all its deformity, and we repeat that the party leaders who went before the people on that issue, ought to have been defeated just as they were defeated.

It is not true that there has been an adjudication by the Federal Judiciary that establishes the doctrine. The only real decision made in the Dred Scott case was, that the Court had no jurisdiction over it—the record showing, on the part of Scott, a disability to maintain his suit—and the dicta indulged in, aside from that suit, were of no more binding effect than the opinions of any private individuals in the land. But even those dicta, nugatory as they are, were confined to a minority of the Court, and in fact mainly to the Chief Justice. Nor were any general opinions enunciated by a majority of the Court which at all necessitated the conclusion that the Constitution carries Slavery into the Territories expropria vigore. We know that President Buchanan saw fit, in his inaugural and in his first Message, to represent this as a decision of the Court; but was entirely unwarrantable on his part, and was done only to give color to his pretensions and shield his own misdoings. No analysis of the opinions by any legal authority has yet educed any such conclusion.

THE LONDON Mechanic's Magazine states that an original material for floor covering has recently been patented by Mr. Dunn, a member of C. Goodyear's India Rubber Co., London. It consists of a composition of cork, flock cotton, wool, and other fine fibrous materials of various colors, mixed with India rubber. These are spread on canvass back and embossed. The result is a material of great permanence and beauty, having all the softness of a carpet, with the elasticity and noiseless tread which constitute the beauty of a real "velvet pile of Brussels."

SAD ACCIDENT.—We are informed that Mr. J. C. Mills, a resident of the town of Raymond, in this county, met with an accident, a day or two since, which will cause him the loss of one of his feet. He was engaged in threshing wheat, and while at work about some portion of the machinery, his foot caught, and a portion of it was torn off before the machine could be stopped. It is thought an amputation will have to be performed.—Racine Daily Journal, 23d.

AT the New York city post office two Washington Monument boxes are put up at the points where the greatest number of persons pass daily, and the gross amount dropped into these boxes during the past three weeks, in that city of nearly a million inhabitants, is only about eleven dollars.

THERE ARE 4,000,000 students and 150,000 teachers in the public schools of the U. S. There is one student for every five free persons. In Great Britain there is one student for every eight persons. In France, one to every ten.

It contains an able paper on the life and works of ARY SCHEFFER—A Visit to Martha's Vineyard—October to May—The Elensinia—The Minister's Wooing—Once and Now—A Trip to Cuba—Zelma's Vow—The Murder of the Innocents—My Double and how he Undid Me—The Singer—The Professor at the Breakfast Table—Reviews and Literary Notices. TUNIS & Co. have all the late publications—periodicals and newspapers.

EXCURSION TO SHEBOYGAN.—The Queen City Lodge of Good Templars will make an excursion, this morning, to Sheboygan Falls. It is expected that a large delegation from Waukesha and Waupun will meet them at the Falls. Dr. Cook, of the Summerfield M. E. Church, delivers the address. A pleasant and profitable time may be reasonably expected.

FOR LAKE SUPERIOR.—The splendid side-wheel steamer Lady Elgin, Capt. WILSON, will leave DOUSMAN & Co.'s dock, Thursday morning, Aug. 25th, at 8 o'clock for Superior City, touching at all ports on Lakes Michigan and Superior. For passage, apply at the Collingwood office, No. 70 East Water street, J. MCCARTY, Agent.

TIMOTHY CONNELLY was arrested yesterday for vagrancy. He was begging on the public streets, and when arrested asserted that he had not a cent in the world. When taken to the Station, six dollars were found in his pockets. Mr. CONNELLY is sixty years of age, and is said to be the owner of a great deal of land.

A YOUNG GIRL, apparently about twelve years of age, was taken to the Police Station yesterday by a policeman, who found her at the La Crosse depot. She stated that her name was LOUISA KANE, and her parents reside at Lisbon, from whom she deserted in fear of punishment.

AN ACCIDENT.—On Sunday afternoon, near the crossing of Galena and Twelfth streets, a horse and wagon passed over a little child, some six or seven years old; but the little one was uninjured.

THE HON. JOHN MCLANE of the U. S. Supreme Court was in town yesterday, at the Newhall. He is on his way to Minnesota, and is looking remarkably hale and hearty.

Censorship Over the Press.

Mr. Editor:—The report of the "Proceedings of the Board of Councillors," Mayor PAGE presiding, as published in this morning's Sentinel, contains the following, as said by Mayor PAGE:

"It was in the power of the Board to deprive any reporter of his facilities when they were abused."

I should like to ask his Honor, who is to be the judge as to when the reporter has "abused his facilities?" Is the reporter to be court-martialed?—there is no Municipal Judge—or is he to be tried by "a jury of his peers?" Who is to be judge as to the abuse? The matter sounds despotic—for the press is the first thing at which a despot strikes; it came with bad grace from the Mayor.

The only charitable construction I have heard put upon it, was "that one of the Councillors made such an ass of himself that he confused the whole Board, and the President, too."

PUBLICOLA.

August 23, 1859.

We do not agree with "Publicola" in all of his remarks. There is certainly nothing despotic in the mere act of removing those facilities usually afforded reporters of the press; and when a reporter abuses the privelege extended, it would certainly not be transcending the limits of self-respect in the body, to withdraw the courtesies.

Councillor ROSEBECK's views of the matter, however, are, in our opinion, as foolish as they are original, and it is no more than justice to the gentlemen comprising the Honorable Board, to say, that they regard his undignified display of animosity against the Sentinel, with the commiseration it deserves.

Pic-Nic for the Children of the Milwaukee Public Schools.

A Pic-Nic will be given to the children attending the Public Schools in the City of Milwaukee, on Wednesday, the 31st instant, in Vliet's Grove, Ninth Ward.

The scholars will assemble at their respective School Houses, and at 8 o'clock, A. M., and will march thence to the general place of meeting, on Market Square, Seventh Ward.

The children of the First, Seventh and Third Ward Schools will form the First Division, and meeting at the corner of Jefferson and Mason Streets, will march together to the Square.

The children of the Fifth, Eighth and Fourth Ward Schools will form the Second Division, and meeting at the corner of Third and Spring Streets, will move thence to the Square.

The children of the Second, Sixth and Ninth Ward Schools will form the Third Division, and meeting at the corner of Chestnut and West Water Streets, will proceed to the Square.

Each school will be under the charge of the Commissioners of the Ward, and of the Teachers attached to the school; and each Division will be accompanied by a Band of music and appropriate banners.

It is expected that the children will be provided, by their parents, or guardians with sufficient for a lunch, and Ice-water, Lemonade, Sandwiches, &c., will be distributed at the Grove.

There will be a baggage-wagon at each School House to carry the satchels and baskets of the children to the appointed ground.

Music, singing, and some brief addresses may be expected during the day.

The Procession will move from the Public Square as soon after 9 o'clock as it can be formed, and will remain at the Grove until about 5 P. M.

Parents, Guardians, the City Authorities, and all others interested in the cause of Popular Education are invited to attend and take part in the exercises.

Should the weather prove unfavorable on the 31st instant, the Pic-Nic will be postponed until the first fair day thereafter.

The aid of the City Press is respectfully invoked to give publicity to these arrangements, and urge the general attendance and co-operation of our citizens.

GOING TO LEAVE US.—We regret to learn that Dr. C. P. FITCH, for several years a resident of our city, is about to leave us, and take up his abode in Philadelphia. In the practice of his profession, Dr. FITCH enjoys a deservedly high reputation, and his appointment as a member of the executive committee of the Western Dental Association at the recent convention in this city, is, we take it, an evidence of the esteem of his professional brethren. While amongst us he made not a few warm personal friends, who, with us, will be sorry to lose the society of so valued an acquaintance. We can conscientiously commend him to the good people of the "city of brotherly love" as a skillful dentist, and an estimable gentleman.

THE MENOMONEE BOAT CLUB.—A new club has recently been organized under the above name. The officers are F. M. LANE, President; GEO. F. WILLIAMS, V. President; N. STAUGHTON, Secretary and Treasurer.—Arrangements have been made to erect a boat house at the junction of Fowler street with the river. The club is in a flourishing condition and possesses two fine boats viz: the Hoboken four, and the Mechanic six oared.—The compliment of numbers has not been attained yet. We are glad to see the interest in boating on the increase.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF THE CITIZENS CORPS.—At a special meeting of the Milwaukee Citizens Corps, held Tuesday evening 23rd inst. at their Armory, the following officers were elected to fill vacancies:

2nd " B. J. HICKS.
1st Sargt—JOS. SPRAGUE.

By Order W. L. HINSDALE, Sec'y.

A GOOD WORD FOR A MILWAUKEE FIRM.—The Chicago Journal in noticing the new produce firm here of Messrs. KEELEE & WILLARD says:

The members of the firm are experienced and reliable, and we cordially commend them to all who have business in their line in our sister city. Mr. Keeler we have known from boyhood, and how eminently he deserves the confidence of the business community, we take pleasure in bearing witness to, as well as to the firm of which he is a member.

A BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION ESTABLISED by Special Endowment for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic Diseases.

In times of Epidemics, it is the object of this Institution to establish Hospitals, to provide Nurses, Physicians, Clothing, Food, Medicines, &c., for the sick and destitute, to take charge of the orphans of deceased parents, and to minister in every possible way to the relief of the afflicted, and the health of the public at large. It is the duty of the Directors, at such times, to visit personally the infected districts, and to provide and execute measures of relief. Numerous Physicians, not acting members of the Association, cordially enroll their names on its books, subject to be called upon to attend its Hospitals, free of all charge.

In the absence of epidemics, the Directors have authorized the Consulting Surgeon to give advice and medical aid to persons suffering under CHRONIC DISEASES of a virulent character, resulting from the abuse of the physical powers, mal-treatment, the effects of drugs, &c., &c.

Various REPORTS and TRACTS on the nature and treatment of Chronic Diseases, by the Consulting Surgeon, have been published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent FREE OF CHARGE to the afflicted.

Address, for Reports of treatment, to Dr. GEORGE B. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Shocking Outrage on a Steamboat.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23—3 P. M.

The Baltimore Sun of this morning publishes an account of a dreadful series of outrages, perpetrated on Saturday night, on board the steamboat Express, which left here the same evening, with a large company, for the camp meeting at Cheaptauk river. After getting some distance from port, a party of rowdies, rallying under cries of "Bubolts," "Banters," and "Ripraps," made an indiscriminate assault upon the white and colored passengers; several men were knocked down, beaten or stabbed, and several were robbed of their watches and money. The assailants blew out the lights to prevent recognition. A colored man was stabbed and robbed, and his wife outraged in his presence. On Sunday morning the Sheriff of Dorchester county arrested four of the ringleaders and committed them to jail. One colored man is said to have died from his wounds.

Politics in New York.

GENEVA, Aug. 23—3 P. M.

Quite a number of prominent American politicians have congregated here to attend the American State Council which will meet to-day.

D. Ulman, who it is said represents the policy of Thurlow Weed, will oppose a call of the convention on the same day the Republicans will hold theirs, in order that the matter may not be embarrassed by any union openly with the Democrats.

The Buffalo Delegation who favor a union and act with the anti-Weed Republicans, advocate the holding

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 24.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 28th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

The Democratic State Convention.

This body assembles at Madison to-day, and is likely to have a pleasant time of it in settling the quarrels among the contending factions of the party, and in deciding between the claims of rival candidates for nominations. A large number of Delegates were in our city Monday evening, on their way to Madison, and active caucusing was going on in all quarters. A decided majority of the Delegates elect follow the DOUGLAS and BARSTOW banner, but as they expect to nominate the candidates and cannot dispense with the help of the BUCHANAN men, the Presidential question will be kept out of sight and the election of Delegates to the Charleston Convention deferred till next year. The Democratic Caucus of the Fifth and Eighth Wards of this city, presided over by Postmaster STEEVER, a zealous BUCHANAN man, adopted the two following resolutions:

Resolved, That our delegates are requested to cast no vote for any person who has been connected with any corruption whatever.

Resolved, That our delegates are requested to vote in favor of the postponement of the election of delegates to the National Convention, and the election of a Presidential Elector.

This may be called the Administration platform. It is also that of the German "Reformers," at whom the News is so fond of sneering. Of course, it is not acceptable, nor complimentary to "the Forty" and their backers; but though these old-time managers of the party may still control the nominations, they will hardly venture to disregard, as they did last fall, the significant hint of the BUCHANAN men and the "Reformers."

Doubtless the Convention will close its labors on Thursday, and the Sentinel of Friday will inform our Republican friends throughout the State whom they have to beat in the November election. The Republican Convention meets on this day week and will, we trust, nominate such a ticket as will give our friends every inducement to labor for a signal victory, and our opponents a satisfactory reason for not wasting their time and money in fruitless efforts to escape defeat.

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Among the State Officers to be elected at the coming Fall Election is the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The duties devolving upon this office are of the most responsible character, and if discharged with intelligence and fidelity must be productive of great benefit to the whole State. Among the candidates named by the Republicans for the post in question is JOHN G. MCMYNN, of Racine. We have long thought him the fittest man in the State for the office of Superintendent, and fully agree in the opinion expressed of his abilities in the following extracts from the Racine Daily Journal:

John G. McMynn, Esq., our late and next principal of the High School in this city, arrived home on Friday noon last. He is looking very well and hearty, and is welcomed home by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. In this connection we may be permitted to repeat what we said a few days ago with reference to his nomination as State Superintendent. The Republican party should and does ignore the idea that any men have claims upon the party as such, for the honors and offices at its disposal. But as we said then, so we say now, the Republican party has a right to the services of Mr. McMynn as a State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. McMynn, it is well known, has run thrice upon the Democratic ticket. Thrice has he been put there without his solicitation, and thrice has he borne his share of the expenses and annoyances of these campaigns.

* * * * * * *

Mr. McMynn returns home with increased ability for usefulness in the service of the State, and it is highly proper that when there is a prospect for success, he may have a chance to run on a platform in which he, when in power, were in an acknowledged minority. The Republican party cannot do itself justice, nor honor the State in any manner more than by giving Mr. McMynn this place on the ticket.

The Franking Question Again.

Postmaster STEEVER does not answer my question whether C. H. LARRABEE has now the right to frank. As the ex-Judge has been and is largely in the exercise of that right, with the approbation or consent of the Postmaster, I think it is time to know whether this operation is in fraud of the revenues of the Post Office or not.

Now, my dear Col., you have had ample time to consult your little book of "laws, rules and regulations," and also had a free and full consultation with the M. C. elect.—Will you answer and let me know whether Judge LARRABEE has been franking, and you sending his mail matter through the Post Office, free of charge, in violation of the Post Office law or not?

You must, as a public officer, explain this matter, or, however reluctantly, I shall be forced to the conclusion that you connive at a fraud upon the revenues of the department.

Hoping that you can show a clean record, I am, patiently, hopefully, and perseveringly.

The Illinois State Fair and Editorial Convention.

The Illinois State Fair will be held in Freeport, on the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th days of September. The Illinois Editors will also hold a Convention on the third day of the Fair. The Racine and Mississippi Railroad will be completed to Freeport by the 1st of September, which will furnish a grand opportunity for people in this section to be present.

The editors of the Freeport Journal, in behalf of the "fraternity" of Illinois, extend a cordial invitation to Wisconsin and Iowa editors to be present at the Convention.—They also state that all the editors will be fed free, by simply, upon their arrival, reporting themselves to President ELLSWORTH. During the Fair the Journal will be issued daily.

The railroads throughout the State have agreed to carry passengers to and from the Fair at half price, and all stock for exhibition will be carried free of charge.

LIGHT IN THE SOUTH.—The Cincinnati Enquirer says of the election of Mr. ETHERIDGE in Tennessee: "A constituency that will elect a man with such a record as ETHERIDGE, has not far to go before it will support an out-and-out Republican. ETHERIDGE'S sympathy with the Republicans was notorious at Washington, notorious in Tennessee, and notorious in all parts of the country."

A PARIS CORRESPONDENT of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce writes:

I attended to-day, as I did last Sunday, the American Chapel, and had the great satisfaction of hearing a sermon from A. L. Stone, of Boston. It was from the text "Who will show us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us." It was rich in thought and beautiful in diction; a string of pearls, possessing intrinsic value as lustrous beauty.

MICHIGAN.—The following is a list of the Revolutionary Soldiers supposed to be living, and pensioners on the roll of the State of Michigan, with their age in 1859:—Francis De Long, Van Buren county, 100 years; Hooper Bishop, Oakland county, 98 years; Ahira Brooks, St. Joseph county, 99 years; Howard Brooks, Macomb county, 94 years; Giles Norton, Livingston county, 93 years.

Book Notice.

THE PASHA PAPERS.—Epistles of MOHAMMED PASHA, Real Admiral of the Turkish Navy, written from New York to his friend, ABEL BEN HASSEN. Translated into Anglo-American from the original manuscripts. To which are added sundry other letters, critical and explanatory, laudatory and objurgatory, from gratified or injured individuals in various parts of the Planet. New York, CHARLES SCRIBNER, 124 Grand Street, London, SAMPSON, Low, Son & Co., 1859.

The serio-comic style of humorous satire is almost a novelty in American literature.—Until within a few years past no author has undertaken to thoroughly castigate the ridiculous in our national character, whether of general or local prominence by means of the best weapon—the lash of satirical humor.—"The Potipher Papers," "Nothing to Wear," and several other books of rather recent publication, were really among the first examples of success in this department of our literature. This fact is, probably, in part owing to the comparatively recent development in our society of those excrescences which most need the knife. Our fathers and mothers belonged to an age not characterized by that inflation which, in more than one sense, accompanies the swell of our times. Unlike their children, they did not expand skirts and credit beyond bearing; they did not build railroads and marble houses with spoils gracefully stolen; they had no crinoline, no stock-market, no "Mrs. Coupon," no "Universal Augustus," no "Stubbs." They did not believe in the efficacy of Humbug, they did not "run their face."

The weak points which furnish vulnerable marks for the keen arrows of the satirist are mostly modern and peculiar to the present period. They have been skillfully hit by several archers, but many remain untouched. The target is a large one, and will receive the contents of many a quiver before it is riddled as it deserves.

CURTIS has gently, as with a slender lance, pricked some of the worst of the stupendous bags of folly wherein the giddy crowd float in the tide of fortune. BUTLER has boldly and nobly, as with the spear of Ithuriel, pierced a host of the evils that spring from the union and vanity of wickedness. His "Nothing to Wear," and "Two Millions," are poetical treasures—the pure, good grain which will be garnered up by a just judgment of the world when the light chaff of contemporary rhymes has been scattered and forgotten.

But, in the broad field which is thrown open to the writers of this class, there is ample room and verge enough. Every new contributor to the store of really good books, is welcome. Every laborer aids the work. And among the latest and best of the books that belong to the class we have described, it affords us pleasure to mention the volume, the title of which is placed at the head of this article. "The Pasha Papers" consist of a series of letters, the greater part of which originally appeared in the columns of the N. Y. Evening Post. The others are now published for the first time in a permanent form, and embrace many fugitive pieces which the author has from time to time written for the newspaper press, and now weaves into the present connection. Among the latter are several short poetical productions of very considerable merit. The following from an epitaph on a much prized family-horse, which, after drawing many heavy loads, at last drew —"his final breath," is excessively happily tuned:

Here lies a faithful steed,
A staunch uncomplaining Silver Grey—
Who ran his race of life with sprightly speed,
Yet never ran—away.

* * * * * * * * *

Lithe were his limbs and clean,
Fitted alike for buggy or for dray,
And like Napoleon the Great—I ween—
He had a martial neigh.

Oft have I watched his grace
His favorite stall, well littered warm and fair;
With such contentment shining in his face,
And such a stable air.

With here and there a speck
Of roan diversifying his bound back,
And quarry-like, a halter round his neck,
Which bound him to the rack.

* * * * * * * * *

The stanzas entitled "A Little Rhyme for Christmas Time," are exquisite, relating a beautiful legend in the sweetest verse. The imitation of LONGFELLOW is capital:—

Joshua rose in his wrath, emitting a large imprecation;
Swearing to go and fracture the skull of his rival, the long haired,
But thinking twice, sat down, and said to himself in a whisper,
"Jerry is bigger than I be, and therefore I guess I'll forgive him."

* * * * * * * * *

Sweet and strong is love, the love of a man for a woman;
Thrilling the body and soul, likewise, with a magical fervor;
Better and greater and nobler the spirit of self-abnegation;
Smiting the rocky heart, so that faster flow the streams of forgiveness;
Streams of mercy unfailing of noble, heroic forgiveness.

And "Vishon" takes off EMERSON'S "Of the Red Slayer," &c., with much skill:—

If Galileo thought he saw
A preaching parasol bite the sky,
And heard defiance of the law,
I, all was clearly in his eye.

* * * * * * * * *

The following (from a poem after Hiawatha, on the Erie Railroad and Stocks in general,) will do for this meridian:—

—Great La Crosse, the great magician,
Giche Muuito of railways,
Who delights in legislators,
Who embraces legislators,
(As Delilah wrapped Samson)
Coils his many bonds around them,
Ties them hand, foot and conscience,
In the pillory deftly puts them,
For a great and just derision,
For the laughter of the nations,
More especially for the British,
Honest British, moral British!

The letters purport to be written by the Turkish Admiral, who, as our readers will recollect, visited this country a year since.—By assuming this character, the author is enabled to speak many wholesome truths and utter many sharp criticisms which would hardly be expected to come from a native to the "manner born," but which, put into the mouth of the honest, simple-minded but observing old Mussulman, convey, in quaint oriental phrase, the most delicate satire and genuine humor. Thus the votaries of fashion, the devotees of humbug, the demagogue, the charlatan, he who feeds at the public crib, and a vanity of shows and nuisances, are served up in admirable style and with a somewhat severe fidelity to nature. There are some personal hits in the book, which will be enjoyed by all but their victims; and some sober sermonizing worthy of the "Autocrat" in his best talks.

The first epistle contains an account of the arrival of the Rear Admiral at New York.—The view from the steamer was fine. In front was the city; "with much shipping and many minarets; while on the left was stretched the coast of New Jersey—a semi-barbarous country, used as a cricket ground, by the neighboring States, the principal productions being cider and shrimps, and pearls. These commodities are brought in large quantities to the markets of the metropolis, and there bartered for mosquito netting, anti-billious pills, and such other articles as may be to the inhabitants of New Jersey prime necessities of life."

Hotel life, Broadway, the Omnibusses, the Opera, all receive the notice of the traveller, and are described with felicitous remarks. "The Church of the Sacred Checker Board" and the "Church of the Shining Kaleidoscope" come in for their share of mention, and the "Rev. Dr. Heliotrope" is most effectually gibbeted. The system of plundering the city, illustrated by the successful "operation" of "Mr. Stubbs" the contractor, is so well explained, that we should venture to recommend the perusal of it to inquiring gentlemen engaged in a like business not ten thousand miles from here, were it not for the fact that we verily believe "Mr. Stubbs" could teach them nothing.

Perhaps the best letters are those which relates to "society" as the Grand Turk found it in Gotham. The party given by "Mrs. Coupon," the ladies, the beaux, the conversation and the comments of the Admiral are too good to spoil by giving mere fragments; and we shall therefore leave this part of the book to be read by all who wish to enjoy something rich and rare.

The Pasha goes to Washington, and writes his views of the way things are done there, and reports with amazing accuracy the proceedings of the Federal Legislature. He wisely concludes that the country must be a wonder, which can flourish and prosper in spite of Congress and the Executive!

Boston is also visited, and the "Athens of America," with its intellectual culture, its poets, and its inevitable lecturers, can not be said to suffer from the Admiral's treatment.

But we have not space to call attention more particularly to the different portions of this entertaining volume. We only desire to induce others to read it. And to that end, we cordially commend it to all who relish good-natured, well-written humorous satire; not malicious nor full of gall, but not the less effective and agreeable. It deserves, and we believe it is gaining popularity.

The author, or translator, as he calls himself, who is a young lawyer of New York City, says in concluding his pleasant preface:

"It is proper to remark, that the profits of this work, will be devoted to an object of which a constitutional modesty forbids the mention, but which is to the translator, quite as interesting as the purchase of Mount Vernon."

We trust that the profits may prove so satisfactory as to leave no cause of complaint, and that the success of the present book, both financially and otherwise, may be such as to induce him soon to try his hand again at this sort of literary labor, which he does so gracefully and so well.

The Norwich Tragedy—A Whole Neighborhood Burnt—The Incendiary Slain.

From the Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin.

From a distance of five miles from the Preston City toll-gate, through Preston City, over the hill on the road to North Stonington, and into the borders of the latter town, from eleven o'clock at night until four in the morning, an incendiary's torch was busy with the work of destruction. Stopping only to apply the match to the property of the victims of his cowardly revenge, the would-be assassin was hastening on all the live-long night, leaving behind him the charred remnants of the burnt buildings, and the smouldering ashes of the garnered grain.

The incendiary and assassin is a man named Henry Chapman, about 32 years old, tall, slender and dark-complexioned. Some ten years since he married a daughter of Mr. Eleazer Wheeler, but his conduct was such that she was compelled, for her own safety, to have him imprisoned, in default of bonds, to keep the peace. Since that time she has refused to live with him, and, with her three children, has remained at her father's house.

On Saturday last he came to the house and asked to see her, but she refused to meet him. Finding their second son, he took him away to Norwich, and then started on foot for Noank. He walked all night, dragging his bare-footed boy with him, and reached Noank Sunday forenoon; and from Saturday morning until dinner on Sunday, the brute gave the child not a morsel of food to sustain him during his toilsome tramp. He was followed by his wife's friends, and overtaken at Noank by officer Chappell, who took the child away, and at the same time served upon him his wife's petition for divorce.—Chapman then returned to Preston in a perfect frenzy of rage. He was last seen before the tragedy, about 10 o'clock that night, near the toll-bridge.

At 11 o'clock the barn of Mr. Henry Harvey, toll-gate-keeper, was discovered to be on fire. It was destroyed, with all its contents. Other buildings were with difficulty saved. Not long after, the barn of Russell Fitch, about a mile beyond, was fired and destroyed.

About 12 o'clock Henry Haskell's barn, about a mile and a half still further on, was fired and destroyed.

A little after 12, a barn belonging to Mr. M. T. Richards, in the more thickly settled portion of the town, called Preston City, was fired. It was destroyed, and the flames spread first to a carriage house adjoining, and afterwards to a store occupied by Mr. Richardson.

A short distance beyond, Mr. Brown's barn, filled with crops, was destroyed. Only a few rods beyond was the barn of Wm. H. Prentice, which was destroyed.

The next building fired was the barn of Noyes F. Meech, fifteen rods off the main road; the scoundrel going out of his way in order to satisfy his old grudge against Mr. Meech.

About three o'clock the barn of Robert G. Latham, on the edge of North Stonington, was destroyed, with a corn-house and wagon house.

Half a mile beyond stands the house of Mr. Eleazer Wheeler. It was nearly four o'clock when the family were awakened by Mr. Latham, who came for assistance to extinguish the fire last mentioned. Mr. Wheeler's son Charles told his father, as soon as the family were aroused, that this was "some of Henry Chapman's work," and they had better not leave the house unprotected. Before they could get ready to go to the assistance of their neighbors, they discovered the flames issuing from their own barn. Charles' suspicions were confirmed by this, and while they were endeavoring to extinguish the flames, Chapman was discovered endeavoring to set fire to the house.

The alarm was given, and Mr. Wheeler and Charles arrived with an axe and shot-gun, and met Chapman at the door. Charles fired at him, but the gun missed fire, when Chapman shouted, "Now, by G——d I've got you," and drew a pistol on Mr. Wheeler and snapped it twice at his head, but it missed fire both times. Mr. Wheeler struck at him with the axe, but missed him. By this time Charles had primed his gun, and punching out the glass in a second story window he fired and Chapman staggered and almost fell. He then fled, probably taking with him a heavy charge of shot. Mr. Wheeler followed, but he escaped into the woods.

Chapman had not been arrested at the latest accounts, though he was still lurking in the swamp near Mr. Wheeler's house.

LATER.

With scarcely a single exception, the dwellings and barns in the vicinity of Preston City were watched all Tuesday night with sleepless eyes. It was believed that Chapman having secreted himself in the swamp during the day, would sally forth at night and complete his work of vengeance. Mrs. Chapman was received, as it was believed that Chapman would attempt to murder her. Early on Wednesday morning parties started out to search the woods. About half past 9 o'clock he was found lying on his back near a spring, a few rods from the road, and about a third of a mile from the house of Mr. Wheeler.

The dead body was still warm, so that it could have been dead but a few hours. His clothing was stripped down from his legs, evidently for the purpose of bathing his abdomen, where he received the charge of shot fired by the Wheeler boy on Tuesday morning. No pistol or other weapons were found upon him. He had probably thrown them away, for he was known to have a double barreled pistol and a dirk in his belt on Monday night.

DISCOVERY OF A NEW MOTIVE POWER.—The Paris correspondent of the London Star says:

"The announcement made in the ateliers of Paris of the discovery of a new motive power which, upon experiment, has been found to be entirely successful, has created a great sensation. The discovery has been made by a young workman named Jacob, a turner in copper, and was the result of an accident. While seeking to increase the power of his turning lathe, a new means of power was suddenly revealed to him, whereby he has been able, alone, without assistance, to construct a machine which increases two hundred fold the labor of one man, and may be increased to unlimited extent. The inventor, who has hitherto worked au atlee at Escarbotta, has been, of course, sent for at Paris, and has already nearly completed a machine applicable to every species of industry. If success should attend the experiment, for which it is understood one of the great industrial capitalists furnishes the money—the discovery will put an end to all steam power and every other expensive action, and the result is waited for with the greatest anxiety in the manufacturing world. Already have the proprietors of the spinning works at Schaffhausen been induced to come to Paris in order to hear the first news of the success or failure of the trial."

TRADE OF BERMUDA WITH THE UNITED STATES.—Bermuda has an increasing trade with the United States, in supplying us during the winter and early spring with vegetables. The export of potatoes from Bermuda for 1859 shows the handsome increase of some nine thousand barrels. The exportation of onions for the season just closed the quantity of eight hundred and twenty-two thousand one hundred and thirty pounds. Tomatoes for the same season (all to the United States) amounted to four thousand five hundred and ninety-two boxes. It is an interesting fact connected with these statistics that more than sixty vessels were engaged in carrying the above mentioned produce.

INDIANA DIVORCES WORTH NOTHING IN THIS STATE.—The case of Julia E. Clark against Alvin B. Clark, which was tried before Judge Bacon at the last term of the Supreme Court, in June last, in Lewis county, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff upon all issues of the case. The action was brought against the defendant on the ground of adultery. The Court held that a divorce obtained in the State of Indiana, when the party goes there for the purpose of procuring such divorce, and then returns to this State, is wholly inoperative and void.—Buffalo Republic.

THE SOUTH PASS.—MR. GREELY thus describes that immense gateway to the Empire of the Pacific:

We started at 7 this morning, came down to the Old Salt Lake, Oregon, and California trail at Sweetwater, crossed and left the creek, finally, and traversed a slightly rolling country for seven miles to the "Twin Buttes," two low, clay-topped mounds, which mark the point from which the waters run easterly to the Gulf of Mexico and westerly to the Pacific. If any one has pictured to himself the South Pass as running through some narrow, winding, difficult, rocky mountain gorge he is grievously mistaken.

The road through the South Pass is the best part of the route from Atchinson to California; the clay has been almost wholly washed away and carried off, so that the road passes over a coarse, heavy, gravelly sand, usually as compact and smooth as the best illustrations of the genius of McAdam. I never before traversed forty-five miles of purely natural road so faultless as that through the South Pass which I have traveled to-day. But this tract should be good for roads, as it seems absolutely good for nothing else. The natural obstacles to constructing a Railroad through this region are not comparable to those overcome in the construction of the Camden and Amboy.

A SONNET BY JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.—The New York Evening Post says:—We subjoin a poem written by the late Ex-President John Quincy Adams. It was written during the last fourteen years in Congress—the most illustrious period of his life—while he was struggling so heroically for those despised doctrines of freedom which are one of the two great parties of the Union. The poem is interesting as showing, the unshaken confidence and trust with which the veteran statesman looked forward to the triumph of the principles he had at heart:

TO THE MORNING STAR,

Seen rising at 5 A. M. 16th of October, 1839.

BY THE LATE JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

Bright star of the morning! welcome to mine eyes!
More lovely than at eventide's decay,
For now thou comest with the dawning ray
And soon the glorious lord of light shall rise.

Anon his splendor shall emblaze the skies,
And in his flame thy own shall melt away;
But mingled with his radiance thine shall play,
With matron, though unseen, that never dies.

Rise! Morning Star of man's immortal soul!
Rise! Let thy beams irradiate the pole!
Redeeming earth from midnight's ebon sway!
Dispel the shade of Slavery's deadly shade;
Turn to the ploughshare, War's ensanguined blade,
And glow with promise of unclouded day!

CROOKED ENOUGH.—Speaking of the Rio Grande, a writer says: "Imagine one of the crookedest things in the world, then imagine four more twice as crooked, and imagine to yourself a large river three times as crooked as all these put together, and you have a faint idea of the crooked disposition of this crooked river. There is no driftwood in it from the fact that it is so crooked that timber cannot find its way far down enough to lodge two sticks together; but few snakes, because it is not straight enough to swim in; and the fish are all in whirlpools in the bends, because they cannot find their way out.—Birds frequently attempt to fly across the river, but light on the same side they start from, being deceived by the crook. Indeed, you may be deceived when you think you see across it; and some of the b'hoys say it is so twisting there is but one side to it."

☞ I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE.—Jacob Wooster, of Bush Creek, New Sewickly township, says:

"For two years I suffered the Vertigo, Nausea and Headache, attending Dyspepsia, sometimes so severely as to incapacitate me for any effort—at others, to confine me to my bed. My bowels were often so constipated as to oblige me to use the most powerful purgatives to relieve myself. Indeed, I at last found it necessary to use something of the kind constantly. Last fall I commenced taking BŒRHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS, and found it just what my case required. I cannot recommend it too highly, for I believe it saved my life."

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 19, 1857.

MESSRS. J. BURNETT & Co.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cocoaine.)

For many months my hair has been falling off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contain camphene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oil, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application allayed the itching and irritation; in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others, similarly afflicted, will be induced to try the same remedy.

Yours, very truly,
SUSAN R. POPE.

Dr. Duponco's Golden Periodical Pills
FOR FEMALES.

THE COMBINATION OF INGREDIENTS in Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills are perfectly harmless. They have been used in the private practice of old Dr. Duponco for over thirty years, and thousands of ladies can testify to their great and never failing success in almost every case, in correcting irregularities, relieving painful and distressing menstruation, particularly at the change of life. From five to ten pills will cure that common yet dreadful complaints, the whites. Nearly every lady in the land suffers from that complaint. The above pill has permanently cured thousands, and will cure you if you use them. They cannot harm you, on the contrary, they remove all obstructions, restore nature to its proper channel, and invigorate the whole system. Ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family, will find these pills a successful preventative. Pregnant Females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition although their mildness would prevent any mischief to the health—otherwise these pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box. Price $1,00 per box. H. SWEET & SONS, BAD COUGH, RAISING BLOOD, NIGHT SWEATS CURED.—Mr. Artemus Rudder, of Niles, writes.

For four months I have been troubled with a very bad cough. I got so bad lately that I have at times raised large quantities of blood and some pus. This frightened me, for I thought I had the Consumption. Night after night I was bathed in sweat; so that I was, when I came under your treatment, little better than a "withered bud." I commenced the use of the Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, and Regulators, which I got from Dr. J. Lorimore, of this place. I bathed my chest and throat with Ready Relief, took the Resolvent three times per day, internally, and from one to three Regulators every night. The first night I took the Relief and Resolvent, I slept in peace. I have had no distress from my cough since that night. In two weeks I was completely restored. Have now a good appetite, and am growing quite fat Very truly,

"WHEN THIS OLD RING WAS NEW."

Your wedding ring wears thin, dear wife; ah, summers not a few,
Since I put it on your finger first, have passed o'er me and you;
And, love, what changes we have seen—what cares and pleasures too—
Since you became my own dear wife, when this old ring was new.

O blessings on that happy day, the happiest of my life,
When, thanks to God, your low sweet "Yes" made you my loving wife;
Your heart will say the same, I know; that day's as dear to you,
That day that made me yours, dear wife, when this old ring was new!

How well do I remember now, your young sweet face that day:
How fair you were—how dear you were—my tongue could hardly say;
Nor how I doted on you; ah, how proud I was of you;
But did I love you more than now, when this old ring was new?

No—no; no fairer were you then than at this hour to me,
As dear as life to me this day, how could you dearer be?
As sweet your face might be that day as now it is, 'tis true—
But did I know your heart as well when this old ring was new?

O partner of my gladness, wife, what care, what grief is there,
For me you would not bravely face—wish me you would not share?
O what a weary want had every day, if wanting you,
Wanting the love that God made mine when this old ring was new.

Years bring fresh links to bind us, wife—small voices that are here,
Small faces round our fire that make their mother's yet more dear,
Small, loving hearts, your care each day makes yet more like to you,
More like the loving heart made mine when this old ring was new.

And, blessed be God, all life has given are with us yet; around
Our table, every little life lent to us, still is found;
Though cares we've known, with hopeful hearts the worst we've struggled through;
Blessed be His name for all His love since this old ring was new.

The past is dear; its sweetness still our memories treasure yet;
The griefs we've borne, together borne, we would not now forget;
Whatever, wife, the future brings, heart unto heart still true,
We'll share as we have shared all else since this old ring was new.

And if God spare us 'mongst our sons and daughters to grow old,
We know His goodness will not let your heart or mine grow cold;
Your aged eyes will see in mine all they've still shown to you,
And mine in yours all they have seen since this old ring was new.

And O, when death shall come at last to bid me to my rest,
May I die looking in those eyes, and resting on that breast;
O may my parting gaze be blessed with the dear sight of you,
Of those fond eyes—fond as they were when this old ring was new. BENNETT.

Thrilling Incident.

One beautiful summer's afternoon, I, in company with my wife and child—a little prattling fellow of six summers—started out for a walk. A little dog that was very much attached to the child, persisted in following us. Twice had I driven him back; the last time, as I thought, effectually. The afternoon was very fine, and as I slowly followed the serpent-like windings of the railroad, conversation very naturally turned to the scenes and little incidents of our walk. The gayly-plumed songsters, the chattering squirrel, and the humming bee, all conspired to take our attention.

Becoming wearied, at length we sat ourselves down on a grassy knoll by the side of the railroad, about two hundred yards below where a sharp angle occurs, hiding it from view. Our little boy was higher up on the bank, busily plucking the blue-bells and dandelions, that grew in profusion around, and we soon lost sight of him altogether.

My wife was engaged in perusing a copy of "Baxter's Saint's Rest," while I had cast myself on the grass beside her, enwrapped in the beauty of the landscape spread to view. There a field of tasselling corn gently waved to and fro, while here a field of sweet scented clover shed its grateful fragrance on the air. 'Twas like some enchanted bower—the silence broken only by the tinkling of sheeps' bells, or the lowing of kine, as they peacefully grazed the distant pasture. I was thinking of the infinite wisdom and goodness of the Great Creator, in thus making earth so beautiful for poor sinful man, and how thousands are swept away from its charms forever and forgotten, when I was aroused from my reverie by the shrill whistle of the approaching train; instinctively I turned to look for little Harry, when a quick exclamation from my wife caused me to turn.

She was pale as death. "William, look at our child," she faintly whispered. I did so; and, my God! who can tell the agony that wrung my heart at that instant! The little recreant had wandered up the track unheeded, and had sat himself down on one of the oaken sleepers to cull his flowers, just below the curve, unconscious of the death that hovered near him.

I started up the track toward him, beckoning him to come to me as I advanced.—Instead of doing so, he apprehending some playful sport, commenced running directly up the track, and laughing gleefully as he went. The smoke from the advancing engine was at this instant distinctly visible; it was not possible that I could overtake him in time to save him from that cruel death. As it was, I was but hurrying him on to his doom. No, it was evident my efforts could be of no avail. I breathed a prayer to Him on high, and staggered back.

At this moment the sharp bark of a dog broke upon my ear. With one gleeful bound our boy cleared the track and grasped the little woolly intruder in his arms.

The train rushed round the curve with a whizzing sound. The iron monster was cheated of his prey. I am an old man, but I must confess that as I once more held our little truant in my arms, safe, the tear of gratitude started to my eye. The little dog had perseveringly followed the child unseen, to be the means of saving his life. Blind, blind indeed, is he who could not see the finger of God in this.—American Presbyterian.

THE LONDON TIMES OFFICE.—Mr. Storey, son of one of the proprietors of the Rochester Democrat, writes to that paper an account of his visit to the office of the London Times. We copy a portion of this narrative:

"One of the most interesting and novel departments of the establishment is that in which the stereotyping process is carried on. You know, perhaps, already, that every number of the Times is printed from stereotype plates, thus saving a great part of the wear and tear of the type. The stereotype plate is taken from the form in three minutes, by a new process, invented by a Swiss, and known only to him. A thin layer of soft and damp papeer mache first receives the impression of the type, and after it has been hardened by the application of heat, the melted lead is poured on, which is to form the sterotype plate. The papeer mache has the power of resisting the action of the melted lead, and comes out of the fiery trial uninjured, and almost unscorched. The plates are re-melted every day after the issue of the day is printed from them, and the waste of type from day to day is very slight. By this power of multiplying the number of forms from which the same side of the paper can be printed, the Times can use three or four presses at once, and thus print its 59,000 copies, in an emergency, in two hours. The Times employs in its establishment some 350 persons. It has eighteen reporters at the Houses of Parliament, and for these, as well as the majority of its compositors, the working hours are the night hours exclusively.—It owns four cabs, which are employed solely in carrying reporters and reports at night to and fro between Printing House Square and the Palace at Westminster. The reporters relieve each other at the House every quarter hour, and thus though the debates in the Commons last till four o'clock in the morning, the Times gives it in full by sunrise, though it covers two whole pages of the journal.

"ALL THE DIFFERENCE."—The following snatch of satire is from a keen pen which gives some sharp cuts in the columns of the Sunday Times:

When some wicked Apache, in frenzy of rum,
Has murdered a squaw or a brave,
He blacks his red face, gives up food, and keeps dumb;
Smokes his pipe, and prepares for the grave.
But your civilised murderer shoots you at sight,
Sends his discounted note to a shaver;
Fees his counsel—takes drinks with policemen, "all right I'll"
Lays a box of cigars in—yawns; calls for a light,
And prepares for Frank Leslie's engraver!

Money Matters.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WISCONSIN BANKERS.—The annual meeting of the Bankers' Association will be held at the Newhall House, in Milwaukee, commencing on the 8th day of September, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Business of importance will come before the Association, and a general attendance is desired.

M. S. SCOTT, Secretary.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET OF TO-DAY.—We have the following report of the doings in the New York Money and Stock Market of to-day, by telegraph:

Stocks are less active to-day, and prices, as a whole, are well sustained; in some descriptions higher than yesterday. The speculative list shows considerable strength; a moderate concession in prices bringing forward sufficient purchasers to render the weakness but temporary. This is the chief feature of the market to-day: the closing prices being better than the opening figures. The prominent item in the share list is Michigan Central, which is 1½ ₱ cent below the highest point. The demand for the cash stocks has materially fallen off. The strongest of the western railroad stocks were R I and Mich Cent, both of which are ⅝ ₱ cent better; the former closes at 65, the latter at 41¾.

The Directors of the Erie R R meet to-day, to report their committee and prepare a plan of re-organization. The stated total is large, $20,000,000. Including all mortgaged bonds to date; the unsecured bonds at 50 per cent in stocks. A subscription of about $1,000,000 is called for, for the purpose of lifting the road from its embarrassment, and bondholders will be asked to take stock for the coupons maturing within 12 to 24 months.

The Exchange on Europe is very unsettled and rates are somewhat nominal; London about 1.10, and Paris 1.15 for best bills. The Hammonia, for Hamburg, to-morrow, will take $100,000 in gold and $50,000 in silver. The Arabia, from Boston, takes more from this city.

The movement in money is very uniform, and no inconvenience, much less stringency, is felt in any quarter. The liberal accommodation of 7 per cent. for discounts in the open market, at almost 7@7½ for prime paper, morning this side of January. Call loans to the stock brokers are 6 per cent., with irregular business at 6¼ per cent.

At second board prices were strong, and closed in favor of sellers.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The freight train on the Mil. & Miss R. R., did not arrive in time to report to-day. Receipt s by the other roads reporting were as follows:

	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Barley, bus.	Rye bus.
By MAHor RR	85	323	.....	.....	.....	.....
By M&Chi R R	.....	709	500	.....	.....	.....
Total,	85	1,032	500	.....	.....	.....

No shipments.

There was not much activity in the wheat market to-day, because receipts were so light. Sellers were looking for an advance, and although the market may be considered firmer, the transactions reported would not justify us in quoting prices any higher than yesterday. The sales were all of new wheat at 72 to 75c for ordinary, and 76 to 80c for choice spring. A couple of hundred barrels of flour changed hands at prices ranging from $3,75 to $4,50 for common country to good city spring extra. Shippers would not go beyond 29c for oats, at which figure some 5,000 bus were sold in store. Corn firm at 62½c for good shelled. No visible change, and very little doing in other articles.

CHICAGO, AUGUST 23 —Receipts: 4,052 bbls flour, 31,275 bus wheat, 5,393 bus corn, 53,950 bus oats, 520 bus barley.

The wheat market, which has been daily slackening during the past few days, under a good shipping demand, advanced to day, 2c on spring and 2@3c on winter grades. There was a good inquiry by millers and others for No. 1 white, which is scarce. The day's transactions in all grades of wheat amounted to 35,000 bus at 90@92c for No. 1 red; 77@78c for No. 2 red; 77@ 80c for No. 1 spring; and 83@86c for No. 2 spring—closing quiet but firm. Flour was more or less unsteady. About 10,000 bbls were sold at $4,00 for choice spring extras, and $5,50 for white winter extras. Corn was also in better request, and advanced 1@2c. About 65,000 bus changed hands at 61½@62c in store; and 60½@ 61c@62c in store; and 60½@ 61c @62c in store; and 60½@ 61c @62c in store; and 60½@ 61c @
